

We're gonna rock Kildare!

Kildare's favourite twins Jedward play at the Curragh Racecourse next Saturday, August 13. Speaking to the Leinster Leader, the twins told the Leinster Leader that fans can expect a crazy day... and their plans to run for President!

Are you looking forward to coming back to Kildare for your concert on the Curragh?

Yes, it's gonna be amazing. We are getting a helicopter because we are on tour and have another show in Killarney that day. We can't wait to see all our fans in Kildare. It's gonna be crazy!

Do you have a special message for your Kildare fans?

Yes. Get ready for a crazy show. We're gonna rock out with all of you!

Tell us about your new TV show OMG Jedward's Dream Factory-are you looking forward to making kids' dreams come true?

Yes we did the title credits a few days ago. We are living our dream so it's gonna be cool to make other people's dreams come true. We want people to come up with really cool ideas.

Where did you go on your summer holidays this year?

We don't get any holidays. The tour is like a holiday though cause we get to perform every night and stay in cool cities and nice hotels. And we can hang out with all our fans.

It was announced last week that the Eurovision was the most-watched television programme this year. You beat the election debate between the political leaders! How does that feel?

Maybe we should run for president. We would love that. Planet Jedward would be the coolest place ever. I think it's cool that people watch Eurovision. It was the best thing ever.

This is a question from one of your biggest Kildare fans, Meadhbh O'Meara: What would you do if you were separated for a month?

We would go crazy. We can't imagine us being separated.

And a couple of questions from fan Nicole Weir, from Naas:

What is the tallest your hair has ever been, and who was it - John or Edward?

Our hair has been crazy tall, like 8 inches. It's always the same length for both of us.

Growing up, what was your favourite kids programme?

The Simpsons. We still love it now and watch it all the time

Did you ever have bunk beds, and who slept on the top bunk?

Yea we still do. John sleeps on top. But we never get to go home any more.

Have you ever got anything stuck up your nose or in your ear?

No. That's crazy!

Three support acts announced for Jedward's Family Fun Day

THE hugely-anticipated Family Fun Day at the Curragh Racecourse will be held this Saturday, August 13, in association with iRadio and Mex Management.

The twins will arrive by helicopter to the Racecourse, and fans can expect a lengthy performance as the duo sing all their recent hits and songs from their new album.

Families are in for a truly 'Jedtastic' experience with bouncing castles, face painting, a fun photo corner, candy floss and popcorn, plus much more. Jedward hats and t-shirts will also be on sale on the day.

Kildare-based Euro Star Bounces will provide much more than a traditional bouncing castle, with an Extreme

Keith Cullen

Super Slide, The Combo Clown Bounce, The Gladiator Wrecking ball and The Bounce Obstacle Course including the Carousel Bounce & Slide for the 2-6 year olds plus many more bouncing castles.

Three support acts have also been announced for the day.

TKO are a six-piece from Dublin and Galway, who are likely to be favourites with mums and dads at the concert. They have supported the The Frames, The Waterboys, Mundy and Damien Dempsey, and Hotpress described them as one of the best live bands in the country. Their debut album is set for release in September.

Keith Cullen is a Dublin based singer, songwriter and musician who loves to perform, and his work features no tricks or gimmicks, just melodies and big vocals. He was accepted into the London School of Performing Arts at the age of 18, and has finished his debut album.

Girl pop duo Elle D are two friends who started out loving music and dancing. The pair are also passionate activists against human trafficking.

Tickets are on sale from Ticketmaster Outlets nationwide (www.ticketmaster.ie and 0818 719300) priced €22.15 per person including booking fee.

A family ticket (2 adults, 2 children) is €65.00 including booking fee. Tickets are subject to service charges. Children under two years go free. (Note, family tickets are almost sold out).

It is advised tickets are purchased in advance to avoid disappointment. Free parking will be provided on the day. The Curragh Racecourse is situated just off the M7 at exit 12, between Kildare and Newbridge.
